DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 6-16 and 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gladura et al. (US 5,378,163).

Gladura discloses an electrical plug protector for use on an electrical plug (12) with a cord (11), comprising: an enclosure portion with members (13,14) moveable between an open position (Fig.2) and a closed position (Fig.1); and a cord tethering portion (26) associated with said enclosure portion for attaching said enclosure portion to the cord.

Regarding claim 2, Gladura discloses the enclosure includes at least two of said members (13,14).

Regarding claim 11, Gladura discloses at least one latch (24) forming a male connection piece on one of said members and configured to be latchable to a corresponding female formation (25) located on a second of said members.

Claims 1-16 and 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sweatman et al. (US 5,755,588).

Sweatman discloses an electrical plug protector for use on an electrical plug (50) with a cord (25), comprising: an enclosure portion with members (10,15) moveable between an open position (Fig.2) and a closed position (Fig.3); and a cord tethering portion (70) associated with said enclosure portion for attaching said enclosure portion to the cord.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gladura in view of Hill (US 5,547,388).

Gladura discloses substantially the claimed invention except for the hingedly securing member on the tethering portion. Hill teaches a cover (10) including an enclosure member and a cord-tethering portion (14) including at least one securing member (28) and a fixed member (26) to removably attach the cover to the cord. Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the tethering member of Gladura with at least one securing member and a fixed member, as taught by Hill, to removably attach the cover to the cord.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Francis (US 5,342,212) discloses a hinged cover.
